

SAN DIEGO MUSICAL THEATRE
Announces Richard Tucker Morrison as New Musical Music Director

San Diego Musical Theatre (SDMT) is pleased to announce Richard Tucker Morrison as their new Musical Music Director. Morrison is a San Diego-based music director, voice teacher, and theater executive. He holds a master's degree in musical theater from San Diego State University and a bachelor's degree in stage management from Weber University.

Morrison's credit work includes The Old Man, San Diego Opera, Sugar Theatre, Mountain Stage Productions, Theatricality Theatre, San Diego Live! night types, and Forward Playhouse, among others. Nationally, he has worked with Pacific City Productions, Goodspeed Music, The Playhouse Theatre of the South, Opera Theatre of Saint Louis, New York University, and others. He works, among others.

"I'm excited to join the SDMT team and play a pivotal role for one of Southern California's most respected names in musical theater," said Morrison. "I look forward to bringing my skills as a professional arranger, and a musical theater scholar to the wonderful group of artists."

Morrison will take the helm January for a fourth SDMT's 2022 season in their new performance venue, SDMT stage.

Morrison brings a wealth of knowledge and talents of musical theater experiences to SDMT. He has the pleasure to work exclusively from artists and singers, but it doesn't stop there. He has been working with the community and is looking forward to particularly with the community. "I have experienced it," said Morrison. "My SDMT's past seasons are a testament to Morrison's leadership. Morrison has worked with my entire family at some point, and under his guidance, we have all received plenty of excellent feedback. This is a fantastic achievement of the SDMT team."