

JASON MADDY

Jason is a proud member of Actor's Equity Association, the union of professional Actors and Stage Managers. He received his Master's of Fine Arts Degree in Acting from the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign. As an actor, Jason has performed throughout San Diego, and regionally at major Shakespeare Festivals in Utah, Illinois, and California. Jason has been a teaching artist for almost as long as he's been acting but moved into a more academic setting when he began running the Theatre Department at Valhalla High School, where he built an award-winning program and produced, directed, and designed every production including Footloose, Little Shop of Horrors, Urinetown, The Musical, and Godspell, which was a week from opening before the pandemic shut down the world. Over the summer Jason took a new position at San Diego School for Creative and Performing Arts as the Head of Acting and is in the process of building a conservatory-like program, meant to prepare high school actors to audition for the top schools in this world.